PRAYER OF THE FAITHFUL

That, like the blind man in the Gospel, our faith leads us to a truer and better life in Jesus. We pray to the Lord.

That the United Nations climate change conference will outline new paths for protecting the earth for future generations. We pray to the Lord.

That all those who find themselves called to leadership follow in the footsteps of Jesus and act as servants to their people. We pray to the Lord.

That all those suffering from illness, isolation and poverty may feel God's presence in their lives and receive the help they need through the Christian community. We pray to the Lord.

That all members of our community can feel gratitude and joy at the bounty that the Lord has shared with us, and that we pass on our joy in generosity to others.

We pray to the Lord.

TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION COMMITTEE

In August, Canadian Martyrs Pastoral Council created a working group to provide recommendations for a forward-looking agenda on Indigenous reconciliation for the parish. The working group submitted its recommendations last week, and Pastoral Council approved them. A new committee – the Truth and Reconciliation Committee, which will report to Pastoral Council – will offer more details in the coming weeks about how you can get involved.

WORLD MISSION SUNDAY

From Pope Francis' message for World Mission Day: "The theme of this year's World Mission Day – 'We cannot but speak about what we have seen and heard' (Acts 4:20), is a summons to each of us to 'own' and to bring to others what we bear in our hearts. This mission has always been the hallmark of the Church, for 'she exists to evangelize' (Saint Paul VI, Evangelii Nuntiandi, 14). Our life of faith grows weak, loses its prophetic power and its ability to awaken amazement and gratitude when we become isolated and withdraw into little groups. By its very nature, the life of faith calls for a growing openness to embracing everyone, everywhere." Read the full message here.

D&P PEOPLE AND PLANET FIRST

Together, let's act for the planet and its defenders! Development and Peace's People and Planet First campaign is inspired by the words of Pope Francis, "a true ecological approach always becomes a social approach; it must integrate questions of justice in debates on the environment, so as to hear both the cry of the earth and the cry of the poor" (Laudato Si', 49). These cries are too often silenced by companies (many Canadian) that plunder resources in countries of the Global South, without regard for people's fundamental human and environmental rights. Sign the petition asking the federal government to enact laws that will compel Canadian companies to conduct due diligence across their overseas operations, that will give the victims of their abuses access to justice in Canadian courts.

30TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Excerpt from a homily by Fr. Carl Kelly, OMI

When Jesus asks a question in the Gospels, we can assume that it must be an important question for us as well as the person to whom the question is addressed. Today's question: "What do you want me to do for you?" is that kind of question. About six weeks ago in the Gospel, we heard Jesus ask his disciples, "who do people say I am?" and Peter answered for them. From that question and the answer that Peter gave, Jesus led his disciples to a consideration of all the implications of making such an act of faith. In last Sunday's Gospel, James and John told Jesus that they wanted to sit beside him when he inaugurated his kingdom.

Today's story about Bartimaeus is a very different story. It is the story of a suffering, deprived, neglected person who is not only blind, but also a beggar. He has been thrust out of the way by the people around him who tell him to be quiet when he calls for help. He calls on Jesus and he is heard and helped, and his confidence in Jesus is justified. As always is true with the Gospel, when we reflect on the passage, we begin to see the story at another level that takes us to deeper levels of meaning. For example, when Jesus cures a blind person in the Gospels, we begin to see that the blindness he is cured of is not only physical blindness, but also an inability to understand. When we look at the story in this manner, it is not just about a blind beggar who is cured. The story is about us, who come in our blindness asking to see, asking for life to make sense, to offer meaning and purpose. The story can say to us that it is faith that cures or saves us, and Jesus invites us to follow him. It is easy to see ourselves being challenged by this Gospel story. The story has other meanings for us as well. The story is placed in Jericho, a place that had all kinds of meaning for those familiar with the history of God's people. Jericho was the city that Joshua marched around and was the first obstacle on the way into the promised land. It was on the road to Jericho that the story of the Good Samaritan took place. Jericho is on the way to Jerusalem, the place where Jesus was to suffer and die. Jericho meant many things to people who understood the history of the chosen people. This story suggests that Bartimaeus followed Jesus as a disciple.

Today's Gospel is in contrast to the event that took place in last week's Gospel. When James and John made a request of Jesus, they want to be rewarded for being his disciples. Today's man, Bartimaeus, an outsider, blind and a beggar, is not only allowed to see, but he is called to follow as a disciple. As we reflect on this story, and consider the question asked by Jesus: "What do you want me to do for you?", we recognize that his question is one that is addressed to us as well as to Bartimaeus. The answer to that question will indeed lead us to have our eyes opened. We will be able to see and, because of our belief, be invited to follow Jesus as his disciple. There are many examples in both Scripture and in our own experience when our requests of Jesus are granted in ways we would not have anticipated.

VOCATION REFLECTION

"We Need More Than a Sight... We Need a Vision!"
by Jarek Pachocki, OMI

There are many forms of blindness besides physical blindness. Selfishness might blind us to the needs of others. Ignorance might blind us to the hurt we're causing to others. Prejudice might blind us to the true dignity of another person. It is not with the eyes only that we see. We also "see" with the mind, the heart, and the imagination. A narrow mind, a small heart, an impoverished imagination – all of these lead to loss of vision, darken our lives, and shrink our world. Read the reflection here (uploaded on Friday).

"The one who knows all the answers has not been asked all the questions."

– Confucius

Healing in All Directions: Personal Stories of Reconciliation with Sr. Eva Solomon, CSJ

Tagwàgi (Autumn) Festival

Mādahòki Farm on West Hunt Club Road in Ottawa is a new place to celebrate the region's Indigenous heritage. The name of the farm, which is located in the Greenbelt at 4420 W Hunt Club Road, means "to share land." And this weekend and next, it will play host to the Tagwàgi (Autumn) Festival (October 16 and 17, and October 23 and 24). Among other activities, you can meet endangered Ojibwe Spirit Horses, learn about Indigenous traditions on a trail hike, enjoy live music and storytelling, buy crafts, eat bannock and smoked fish, or let your kids loose on a playground. Admission is free, but you must register in advance online.
