For Pope Francis, our Archbishop Marcel, and all the ministers of the Church, that their preaching and example may encourage the faithful to stand firm as witnesses of Christ the King, we pray to the Lord.

For the youth of the Church, celebrating this World Youth Sunday in every Diocese, that they will embrace its theme, “stand up. I appoint you as a witness of what you have seen” with great confidence, we pray to the Lord.

For all who are rebuilding their lives, that God will restore the sick to health, guide the unemployed to new opportunities, provide the needed resources to those recovering from natural disasters, and comfort those who are grieving, we pray to the Lord.

For all our community, that the Holy Spirit will fill us with courage to be steadfast in the face of today’s challenges, and with charity to serve Christ, who reigns in love, we pray to the Lord.

Christmas Boxes 2021

The chill is in the air telling us that it is time for Christmas preparation in our families and especially for those less fortunate than we are. This year, we are inviting families to make up a shoe box for a youth in need closer to home. Below we have provided a list of suggested ideas for youth, ages 10-16, living here in Ottawa.

We ask you to label the box with the age and gender you have chosen, and then fill it with as many new items as you are able. You are welcome to come together with another family to complete the box, or fill it yourselves with items you think the youth might need and others they may enjoy.

There is no time like the present ... we will need to collect the shoe boxes by November 27/28 in order for the Centretown Community Health Centre (CCHC) to be able to deliver them to families in need by Christmas. Please bring your filled shoe boxes to the parish, unwrapped, and we will make sure they get into grateful hands by Christmas.

Thank you in advance for helping us to spread the cheer this Christmas!!

Pick an age range and fill a box for a child in need: 10-12 years old, 12-14 years old, 14-16 years old (male, female, or non-binary)

Suggested contents:

Toiletries: toothbrush, toothpaste, soap, hand towel or washcloth, hairbrushes, combs

Clothing: t-shirts, socks, tuques, ball caps, hair accessories

Art: journals, pens, pencils, crayons, markers, craft kits, colouring books, art supplies

Games and toys: brainteaser puzzles, juggling balls, card games (e.g., Uno, Skipbo, Sushi Go), travel-sized board games, playing cards

Please label your unwrapped box with age range & gender and include a Christmas card.

CHRIST THE KING

Excerpt from a homily by Fr. Carl Kelly, OMI

The Gospel today gives us a scene filled with drama and colour as the two protagonists square off. Pilate is nervous. In his heart he knows Jesus is innocent. But in his mind he knows he must play the game of politics, and so he makes a compromise: he washes his hands and then sends Jesus off to his death.

Pontius Pilate comes down in history as the great compromiser. He represents all who compromise their principles and so continue to sentence Christ to his death. On the other hand, there are those who do not compromise, those who demonstrate by their lives that Christ is king and they will follow him. When Christ is king, when Jesus really matters to people, the compromises fall away before the truth. I have a couple of stories about people who would not compromise.

In April 1940, Nazi Germany invaded Denmark. There was little resistance because the Danes felt it would be hopeless. A puppet Danish government got on as best it could. But three years later, German policy toughened. It was decided to impose on Denmark the same policy of systematically exterminating Jews that was being practised in other occupied countries. Suddenly, there was a remarkable transformation within Denmark. German officers leaked the plan to the Danish resistance. Escape routes were quickly organized. Jewish people tell how strangers approached them in the streets with the keys to their houses so they could hide. Train guards and boat captains joined the plan. Within a few weeks, all but a few of the 7,000 Jews had been taken to safety in Sweden. Faced with the very human need of the Jews, it seemed that a whole nation, and many Germans, too turned their back on political compromise and performed true acts of love.

What makes people take such stands in life when others do not? What makes them spurn the role of Pilate when others embrace it? The answer is as simple as it is true, as this little bit of wisdom by Mary Rita Schilke Korzan tells us:

“When you thought I wasn’t looking you cared
And I wanted to be everything I could be.
When you thought I wasn’t looking – I looked . . .
And wanted to say thanks
For all those things you did
When you thought I wasn’t looking.”

In her book, Out of Africa, Isak Dinesen tells the story of a young man from an African tribe who worked for her on her farm for three months. He suddenly announced that he was leaving her to go to work for a Muslim man nearby. Surprised, Dinesen asked him if he was unhappy working for her. He told her that all was well, but that he had decided to work for a Christian for three months to study the ways of Christians, and then work for a Muslim for three months to study the ways of a Muslim. After experiencing both, he was going to decide whether to become a Christian or a Muslim.

What would this young man choose if he lived among us and saw what we did and how we acted and how we treated each other, when we thought he wasn’t looking? I wonder. Would he see Pontius Pilate? As always, the Gospel continues to challenge us. Light and darkness, right and wrong, principle or compromise, Pilate or Jesus. It was all there then, just as it is all here now. As Jesus said: “For this I came into the world, to testify to the truth.”

VOCATION REFLECTION

“What Have You Done?” by Richard Beaudette, OMI
One of the Eucharistic Prayers for Various Needs speaks of Jesus “going about doing good” and that is what we are called to do as disciples of Jesus. The Gospel invites us, not to ask if Jesus is a king, but to ask ourselves if he is our king, and to further ask if I should follow him with my whole heart. Those are the essential questions for each disciple and they call us to ongoing conversion of heart and mind to live more fully the call of discipleship in whatever way is given to each one. Read the reflection here.

When you thought I wasn’t looking
You said a prayer,
And I believed there was a God that I could always talk to.
